SECTION - A

1. Explain with reference to the context any one of the following passages : 8

a) My arms were full. I had no room, let alone any need, for another basket. Balancing my baskets and fans on my left arm, I reached into my right coat pocket and got a handful of change — perhaps fifteen cents in all — which I deposited in the basket that the young girl held imploringly before me. I tried to explain that I could not buy the basket but extended the gratuity as a substitute. I realized at once what offence I had given. This child of nine, dressed in rags and on the edge of starvation, raised her chin, reached into the basket, and with all the pride and graciousness of a lady handed the money back to me.

b) But I shall not do it. I have reprieved you, and I will satisfy you that when this large animal says a thing he means it. Moreover, I no longer desire to kill you. Through knowing you better I have come to feel — shall I say? — a sort of affection for you. I fancy that St. Francis would have called you 'little brother'.

PART - II

- a) Give the substance of the following poem in your own words in about 80 words : 4

There's good time coming, boys a good time coming ;

War in all men's eyes shall be

A monster of iniquity

In the good time coming.

Nations shall not quarrel then,

To prove which is the stronger,

Nor slaughter men for glory's sake —

Wait a little longer.

- b) Write a summary of the following passage in about 60 words : 6

It is no doubt true that we cannot go through life without sorrow. There can be no sunshine without shade. We must not complain that roses have thorns, but rather be grateful that thorns bear flowers. Our existence here is so complex that we must expect much sorrow and suffering. Many people distress and torment themselves about the mystery of existence. But although a good man may at times be angry with the world, it is certain that no man was ever discontented with the world who did his duty in it. The world is like a looking glass : if you smile, it smiles ; if you frown, it frowns back. If you look at it through a red glass, all seems red and rosy ; if through a blue, all blue ; if through a smoked one, all dull and dingy. Always try then to look at the bright side of things ; almost everything in the world has a bright side.

13. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

Destruction of forests has a major impact on the productivity of our crop lands. This happens in two ways. Soil erosion increases manifold and the soil literally gets washed away, leading to an accentuated cycle of floods and droughts. But equally important is the impact of the shortage of firewood on the productivity of crop lands. When firewood becomes scarce, people begin to burn cowdung and crop wastes. In many places cowdung and crop wastes are now the major sources of cooking energy. Thus, slowly every part of the plant gets used and nothing goes back to the soil. Over a period of time this nutrient drain affects crop productivity. Add to this the technology of the Green Revolution : the technology of growing high yielding varieties on a limited diet of chemical fertilizers like nitrogen, phosphates and potash. The total biomass production goes up and so does the drain of the nutrients from the soil.

- a) Point out two disadvantages of the destruction of forests. 2
- b) How does the scarcity of firewood affect food production ? 2
- c) Explain the italicized portion in the passage. 1
- d) Give a suitable title for the passage. 1
